
AUSTRALIAN OLYMPIC COMMITTEE

CHALLENGE

The Australian Olympic Committee were struggling with noise their CEO's office, and in a meeting room. Both rooms comprised of all hard surfaces (aside from carpet flooring), which meant that any sound made was amplified and reverberated around the rooms.

SOLUTION

In the CEO's office, 25mm Calando Panels were installed on the ceiling and walls, to reduce reverberation and volume.

In the meeting room, 25mm Calando Panels were installed on the ceiling, and ECO Wall Acoustic Tiles were installed on the wall. The addition of both products created some absorptive finishings in the room, which lowered reverberation and volumes. The ECO Wall Tiles were used to create a decorative visual statement piece in the Olympic Committee's corporate colours.

FEEDBACK

"The treatments are fantastic and have made such a difference with the acoustics in both rooms. The coloured panels look amazing on the wall and we've had a number of positive comments about them."

PHOTOS

